

Last, Lee Peters presented a slide show and talk on Euclid Art's participation in IngenuityFest 2014. Most members were unaware of IF, even though this was its 10th year. Lee likes to say that EAA's participation was "take a picture, make a picture, break a picture", but we named it "A Pigment of Your Imagination".

Lee told us his horror story about setting up his equipment. He was lucky everything still worked! He showed slides of photos and artwork by Dennis McDonnell, Rozenia Cunningham, David Simmerer, Ellen Howard and of his own fractals. He also showed us how the images were morphed and changed into an entirely different work of art. Lee hopes this generated interest among our members to participate with him in IngenuityFest 2015.

To end the evening, Lee presented a 10 minute video by Japanese director, Akira Kurosawa, called Dreams. Dreams is a 1990 magical realism film based on actual dreams of the film's director. In the video, a Japanese man visits a museum and goes into a series of Van Gogh paintings. You have to see it! Interesting!

More Pictures from IngenuityFest 2014

